Verstappen to start in front

The Red Bull driver fends off title rival Lewis Hamilton and take sensational pole position

FPJ NEWS SERVICE
Le Castellet (France)

Paul Ricard hasn't been a happy hunting ground for Red Bull in the past, but Max Verstappen ripped up the formbook in French Grand Prix qualifying to fend off title rival Lewis Hamilton and take sensational pole position.

The French track, which returned to the calendar in 2018, has traditionally been a Mercedes stronghold, with Hamilton taking pole and victory in each edition, but this time it was Red Bull who looked like the ones to beat.

Verstappen set the early pace in Q3, four tenths of a second quicker than Hamilton, but things heated up in the second runs as Hamilton went quickest in the first sector. Verstappen responded with a purple second and final sector to better his time and take his second pole of the season.

Hamilton slotted into second, alongside the Dutchman, with Valtteri Bottas taking third as Mercedes confirmed a bounce back in performance after two very difficult weekends in Monaco and Azerbaijan.

Sergio Perez was a fourth, albeit it half a second adrift of Red Bull team mate Verstappen, while Carlos Sainz outqualified the other Ferrari of Charles Leclerc for only the second time this season as he ended up fifth.

Pierre Gasly gave the French fans in the grandstands plenty to smile about with sixth, in what is his fifth top-six starting spot in seven Grand Prix weekends this year. Leclerc, pole-sitter in the last two races, could only manage seventh as he was beaten by a team mate for the first time at Paul Ricard.

It was a tougher day for McLaren, as while they got both cars into Q3, they were down towards the bottom of the pile with Lando Norris eighth and Daniel Ricciardo a tenth further back in 10th.

They were separated by Fernando Alonso, the sole representative for Alpine in Q3 in the team's home race, with the Spaniard making it four Q3 appearances in seven this season. His team mate and home favourite Ocon will start 11th.

With several thousand fans in the grandstands watching on, qualifying got under way in glorious conditions. But it was just six minutes old when FIA Race Director Michael Masi was forced to throw the red flag after Yuki Tsunoda lost control of his AlphaTauri at Turn 2 and slid into the barriers.

When running got back under way, Verstappen set a scintillating pace with a lap that was more than six tenths of a second quicker than Valtteri Bottas. His main title rival Lewis Hamilton did a second fast lap on the same set of tyres to move into second, but he was still 0.2s off.

Elsewhere, Lance Stroll had his first lap time deleted for exceeding track limits. He bolted on a fresh set of tyres for a second run, but backed out of it with just two minutes to go, leaving him with one shot to get to Q2.

Unfortunately for the Canadian, he didn't get that chance as another red flag was required when Mick Schumacher hit the barriers hard – and that meant everyone's final runs had to be aborted.

India women's firm favourites

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Paris

On a high after winning a World Cup gold in the first stage, Indian women's recurve trio of Deepika Kumari, Ankita Bhakat and Komalika Bari will start as firm favourites to grab the team's quota from the final Tokyo 2020 Qualifier here on Sunday.

Paris represents the final opportunity for India to upgrade their single women's quota place to team invitations in Japan as India would look to qualify a second and third recurve archers to join the Deepika who is all set for her third successive Olympics.

All they would have to achieve is finish among the top-three in a field of 28 teams which include heavyweights Colombia, Denmark, Italy, Spain, Turkey and Mexico, which gave India a stiff challenge in the World Cup final in Guatemala City.

Less than two months after they lost the final in an intense shootoff in the first stage of the World Cup, the Mexican team of London Olympics silver medalist Aida Roman, Alejandra Valencia and Ana Vazquez will again stand in their way.

Of the 28 teams, four teams will be eliminated from the qualification round while the top-eight will directly make the quarterfinals as world number three Deepika along with southpaw Ankita and teenager Komalika would look to start well.

In their last attempt, Indian women's team had failed to qualify, losing to Belarus 2-6 at the World Championships in Den Bosch, the Netherlands two years ago, while the men's team had secured the first quota.

Since then India made a solitary change with Ankita making the cut to the team and it worked well as they won the World Cup first stage, the women's team's first gold medal since Wroclaw-2014.

In the women's section, India so far have an individual quota secured from the Continental Qualification during the Bangkok Asian Championships in November 2019 as India number one Deepika is already bound for her third successive Olympics.

So the pressure will be evident for the less experienced duo of Ankita and Komalika.

"Of course we are under pressure," 19-year-old Komalika said after Friday's practice session.

Incidentally, at the same Stade Charléty, Deepika had clinched one of her four World Cup Final silver medals in 2013 and the former world number one is confident of a good show.

"Technically, we all are up there but all it takes is to shoot with a calm, uncluttered mind, without doubting your abilities," said Deepika.

Milkha Singh: An exemplary athlete and a gentleman

TRIPTI NATH
New Delhi

Flying Sikh Milkha Singh, India's legendary athlete who died of COVID complications at the age of 91, will always be remembered as a gentleman who won the hearts of many people.

Veteran sports journalist Prabhjot Singh who knew Milkha Singh for more than forty years, recalled how Milkha Singh earned in January 1960 in Lahore the title of Flying Sikh from the then President of Pakistan, Field Marshal Ayub Khan. Born in Lyallpur in undivided India and now in Pakistan, Milkha Singh got the title after he defeated Abdul Khaliq, the then top sprinter in Pakistan who was popularly known there as ' Ghoda' (horse) for his speed.

This Chandigarh based journalist says he knew Milkha as a very simple man. Prabhjot says that when he last met Milkha Singh four months back in Chandigarh, he was in high spirits. " He was always in high spirits. He was a very fit man and had very robust health. He would always sport a maroon turban and was immaculately dressed. He was jogging every day and was addicted to golf. Milkha Singh had no formal education and struggled a lot as he came as a refugee from Pakistan. Initially, he could not speak English but he picked up English and gained fluency in the language."

Prabhjot who knew Milkha from his early reporting days, says that Milkha made immense contribution as Additional Director, Youth Services and Sports, Punjab. He began organising two to three week off season training camps in Srinagar every summer for 2000 to 3000 boys and girls in Punjab schools. This gave Punjab many sportspersons.

Milkha Singh has admirers around the world.

Pune based Narinder Singh Bakshi whose father, Honorary Captain Avtar Singh was instrumental in recruiting Milkha Singh as a Sepoy in the Army in 1952 in Srinagar, says, "My father and Milkha Singh's elder brother, Makhan Singh who was also in the Army, were very good friends. We have family terms and they call me Manga Paaji. I first met him in 1960 in the Vallabh Bhai Patel stadium in Worli in Mumbai where a reception was being hosted for sportspersons. I introduced myself to him and told him that my father remembers him. He was very happy to meet me and expressed desire to meet my father. He was staying then in President Hotel in Cuff Parade. I was barely seven years old but I succeeded in reconnecting my father and Milkha Singh ji. We then joined him at the hotel where Milkha Singh ji hosted us and was very cordial."

Bakshi remembers Milkha Singh as very generous. " Three years back, I happened to meet Mr Milkha Singh at the Delhi golf club when his son Jeev was participating in golf championship. He spotted me and asked if I had eaten something. He then put his 'Invitee' identity card around my neck and asked me to go and eat."

Neeru Bhatia, Sports writer and Deputy Bureau Chief with The Week magazine remembers Milkha Singh as a very warm-hearted gentleman and a typical large-hearted Punjabi. " I was in awe of him. My biggest impression of him was that he was still the very down to earth Milkha that one had heard of. He was still very humble despite being such a decorated athlete. The hard work and discipline was probably the reason why he was such an exemplary athlete. That continued till the very end. He would jog and play golf regularly. He never hankered for any attention. He worked very hard throughout his life. He never milked his status for money. He was not very happy about the doping issues in athletics. Look at the greatness of his accomplishment. We have never had an Indian track athlete winning an Olympic medal ever."

Industrialist Anand Mahindra's tribute aptly sums up the iconic sprinter's contribution. He tweeted, " How can my generation explain what Milkha Singh meant to us? He wasn't just an athlete. To a society still suffering the insecurities of post-colonialism, he was a sign that we could be the best in the world. Thank you Milkha Singh ji for giving is that confidence."
